Debham, Mass., Jan. 19.—Mrs. Charles

Were it not for the baby and the comforts and care it needs, she would, to use her own words, "go to North Carver at once and live in the little eld shack with her husband." She visits him frequently, she said, and he comes to see her in her new home here. They correspond regularly.

Kenneth M. Clark, a Harvard graduate, now a timber cruiser in Quebec. He is bringing back the note book.

Exploring a strange trail with a guide, Clark wrote, he found in a rough igloo a lone Eskimo. A note book, together with papers and bits of metal, apparently parts of a sextant, caught Clarks eye, and examination of the book disclosed the name of Dr. Frederick A. Cook. The pages contained notes on weather, latitudinal and longitudinal data, condition of ice floes and other memoranda. Eighty-nine degrees was the furthest north position decipherable, Clark wrote.

The Eskimo declared he remained with Cook after his party had been split by blizzards, thinned by scanty provi-sions and forced to turn back when the dogs went mad.

That the "'American valuation plan' needs such gross misrepresentation of facts in order that it may be justified," the statement continued, "should be sufficient evidence that it is a measure that should not become a law."

Commenting further on its profits Marshall Field & Co. said that the return on the capital engaged in business for the year 1920 equaled only 6.3 per cent., "or an amount not much in excess of a return on an investment in United States Government bonds. These figures were the result of the company's entire manufacturing, wholesale and retail hunteres." Resent Saxe's Criticism.

Both the State Tax Commission and Senator Frederick M, Davenport, chairman of the Committee on Taxation and Retrenchment, replied with a show of anger to-day to criticism made by Martin Saxe, former president of the State Tax Commission, against the Davenport bills concerning the taxation on national bank capital. "The average net profits for the years 1915 to 1920, inclusive, on each dollar's worth of sales made by our retail store after Federal taxes had been deducted," the statement said, "was 4.9 cents."

A Trust Fund That Cannot Shrink

How does it differ from any other trust?

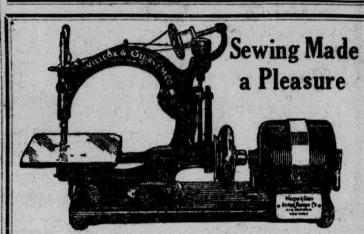

Not possibly that it will be any more honestly or ably administered, for there are both individual and corporate trustees who handle trust funds with devoted attention, with scrupulous honesty and with a judgment ripened by long and extensive experience.

It differs in the nature of the investments themselves. There is only one which the trustee can make and safely guarantee that he will produce the full amount of principal when the trust ends, and that is the Guaranteed Mortgage.

Government, State and Municipal Bonds and many others are just as sure to be paid at maturity, but maturity may be many years off and the trust moneys may have to be distributed just when the bonds are most depressed and cannot be sold for cost.

A SEWING MACHINE SENSATION

is, so different from any other Sewing Machine the women know that it creates a sensation wherever it is shown. Its silence is its first sensation—there is hardly a purr as the fabric glides magically beneath the needle. Silence born of its exclusive DIRECT-DRIVE electric motor.

Then its stitch! A beautiful perfect stitch, three times as strong as ordinary stitches.

And it has NO BOBBINS TO WIND, NO TENSION TO ADJUST—features in themselves sensational.

This machine is indeed different. Come to our store and see it, or phone us to bring one to your home for a demonstration. Even the paying will be made pleasant, if you decide to purchase.
